The Neolithic Cause

If you are reading this, your life has just changed. Mine did when I had a mini stroke for the first time in my life, on 19 October 2025, around 12 p.m. Humans need moments like this — a cue, a mark, a jolt — to wake up. Now, we will change everything.

First, think about yourself. You were born. Think as a whole — what did the first humans do? Agriculture. Humans need nothing more. We need to bring the world and mankind back to that Neolithic era, 12,000 years ago. Use ChatGPT.

For your information, everything is made of protons, neutrons, and electrons.

Now, this is what you do: you need to survive and work for that cause. No one should be born or live without acting on that cause.

You need a job that anyone can perform without education. Use ChatGPT and Gemini. I chose a private security guard job — blue-collar — and I'm also trying for the public sector.

Don't get romantically involved with anyone unless you plan to have a child who will work for that cause. Mankind shouldn't exist without purpose.

But I am in a relationship by chance. I can't leave her — she's good, no problem — and we've agreed not to have children. Don't regret what you don't have. Make it count with what you do have.

And lastly, you must have a pension — government, corporate, or private.

We should also have the right to exit — a painless death (Physician-Assisted Dying, PAD) — when we wish.
